Hi!

My name is Nerea - which comes from the Basque language and is, among other meanings, the female counterpart to the sea god Nereus. That fits quite well as I love the sea, especially the Atlantic.

However, life has taken me to a place closer to the mountains: to beautiful Vienna.

Since completing my Master's degree I've been working as a freelance editor. And since finishing drama school I've also put my heart and soul into being an actress and a wedding celebrant.

Like the sea, I can be very different: Sometimes I'm in turmoil, stormy and sweep everything away, sometimes I'm quiet and calm and just ripple along. But it doesn't matter whether there is high or low tide, storm, light breeze or stillness (sometimes these mystical metaphors just start flowing): I am uncomplicated, enthusiastic and always on the move.

Why I am a wedding officiant

In our society, the mind sets the tone. Emotions are supposed not to flow over, even to be suppressed. The head often silences the heart. Together with you, as a wedding celebrant, I create a space in which the head and the heart meet as equals.

A space in which emotions have their place and can be lived. Without pathos, without kitsch. Just honestly and authentically.

A space in which you can express yourself exactly how you want to and how it suits you.

A space in which I put your feelings, your thoughts and your story into my words.

Of course, this requires a bit of a head - but hey, that's my part. During your ceremony, you can just relax, listen and celebrate your feelings for each other.

Our path to your free wedding ceremony

I will accompany you for the months leading up to the wedding and listen to you, your wishes and your fears. We get to know each other, genuinely and truly. Because only when we have a connection my speech can be the red carpet on which you deepen your connection. Together we will create a day that you will always remember smiling.

If you value honesty, openness and clarity and prefer deep to small talk, then we have an exciting time ahead.

Free wedding ceremonies in German and English

In addition to your German-speaking wedding, I am happy to accompany your English-speaking or English-German-speaking ceremony - regardless of the location. A bilingual ceremony can be set up in different ways. We will talk details later. As an actress, I'm also open to unconventional ideas and the odd joke.

Much love and happy to hear from you
